Fortius Group Complaints Policy

All companies within the Fortius Group are committed to providing excellent service in every interaction we have with our customers. Sometimes we get things wrong or are unable to help customers in the way they would like. Our complaints procedure gives our customers a voice to provide feedback about our services.

Comments and complaints are important to us, they help us understand what works well, give us an opportunity to rectify errors and continually improve our products and services.

In order to meet the organisations objectives and goals, it is Fortius Group policy to develop, implement and maintain a Complaints Management System to:

- Provide a clear, fair, transparent, accessible, and responsive complaints procedure that addresses the needs and expectations of our customers

WARNING: IF YOU PRINT THIS IT BECOMES AN UNCONTROLLED DOCUMENT

- Ensure that complaints are addressed in an equitable, objective and unbiased manner
- Acknowledge complaints within two working days of receipt
- Investigate and respond to complaints within 15 working days of receipt
- Remediate all complaints appropriately, correcting any errors, and offering compensation where this is considered appropriate
- Accurately identify the root cause of all complaints, analysing trends and implementing appropriate preventative action
- Provide an unbiased and independent escalation process for complaints where mutually agreeable resolution is not reached at first level
- Ensure our staff are trained, competent and confident to effectively manage customer complaints and deliver the best possible level of service to our customers
- Allow us to define complaints objectives which will be agreed, documented, communicated, monitored, and reviewed as part of our management processes, to ensure we continue to improve our service and products, and our performance in service delivery
- Maintain a programme of regular management reviews and internal audits, to demonstrate our success in complaints management and service delivery, and to identify areas where we can improve and further develop our services and products
- Meet the requirements of any other interested parties not already specified

The Chief Operating Officer is the nominated top management representative and as such is responsible for ensuring that our systems, policies, and procedures are effective, and that all staff support, understand and comply with these. However, as an organisation we recognise that quality, including complaints management, is not solely the responsibility of one person. Indeed, it is our aim that all employees feel a high degree of ownership in the Quality System, thus making it an integral part of our culture and all that we do. We are committed to continual improvement of this culture of quality.

Responsibility and authority have been assigned to the Quality and Compliance Team to ensure our Integrated Management System conforms to the requirements of ISO9001:2015, ISO10002:2018 and ISO27001:2013. This Quality and Compliance Team includes our extended group of Quality Specialists, who are advocates for the IMS within their own areas of the business.

The Complaints Policy is reviewed by the Quality Management Team at least annually, who will recommend amendments and updates to the policy as part of the continuous service improvement process.
